LINES FROM THE EDITOR'S==A NOSTALGIC JOURNEY

Often in a pensive mood I wonder how difficult it is to live up to the demands of a "Vision" and a "Mission" that one defines for self. How challenging the road of life is where scoring of paeans leads from hurdle to hurdle! But let me start at the beginning since the beginning of the preceding session marked an exodus into a world of conviction, faith and optimism and was infinitely remote from the end of a beginning that could have registered enthusiasm and elegance

Many years ago, the world was a quaint little place where people led unhurried and uneventful lives. A motley lot they were for sure but bound by a common thread; Man's fight for survival, happiness and contentment has led him to a chronicle of untiring efforts where modern materialism and the syntheticised colourless existence has nearly stripped him of his finer creative instincts and has made him a machine. We are so much involved with ourselves and our worldly pursuits that we fail to appreciate and inherit all the good things which are available to us for free. Paradoxically power, fame & recognitions have intoxicated us to such an extent that we are left arrogant proud and audacious. It is only an exceptionally strong man, endowed with incorrigible character, who does not fall for the loaves and fishes of office. Superfluous wealth can buy superfluities only for in the words of Henry Thoreans "Money is not required to buy one necessary of the soul"

We are yet to "walk a hundred miles" to have all the ends met when all our children will enjoy every sort of help in their scholastic as well as creative pursuit. The only thing that seems to ail us is the rapid and steady erosion of social and moral values. Such decadence is posing the most lethal of the threats to our children growing up into sensitive and responsible citizens of the morrow

We earnestly believe in John Dewey's dictum 'learning by doing' and in accordance with the belief it is always our endeavour to enable the students acquire first-hand knowledge with a futuristic view. As I look to the future, I envision blossoms of promise everywhere. The onus rests on us to give definition to our aspirations. Dreams will remain scars on the canvas without goal, planning, and need for a drive. It is this divine discontent that will keep us going. We are the Preservers and the Destroyers. Friends, one spring always leads to another.

Mrs. Rakhi Ganguly, Principal
H.S. Memorial School, Hooghly

FROM THE SECRETARY'S DESK

Ladies & Gentleman,

We have come to an end of another eventful year which started with our 21st AGM & Conference in June `18 at Sacred Heart School, Siliguri. I express my gratitude to the host school for their warm hospitality. The event was graced by CISCE's Chief Executive & Secretary, Mr. Gerry Arathoon as the Chief Guest and Mrs. Anita Arathoon as our Guest of Honour and was a resounding success.

Year 2018 -2019 was abuzz with a lot of events in Kolkata in which our Member Principals played a stellar role viz. The ASISC (National) Conference in the mammoth Biswa Bangla Convention Centre, Kolkata, in November 2019 . The event was a stupendous success. The Conference conferred two National Posts to our regional body, with Regional President, Mr. Sujoy Biswas being nominated as National Vice President and the undersigned being elected as the first National Joint Secretary.

However amidst all good happenings, the Draft National Education Policy (NEP 2019) released in June 2019 has compelled all private schools to ponder on ways and means to protect and promote their sovereignty . In the coming days, we do really have to roll-up our sleeves, stand united to forward our observations and suggestions to people at the helm of affairs for the survival and better future of our beloved institutions.

I consider myself fortunate that since 2007 I have been receiving your unstinted support and co-operation. Will definitely cherish the same for long.

With sincere thanks to my peers and colleagues.

Yours truly

...legends live forever
Dr. Y.P. Ranade

...nurturing Scholars

"Creating people who possess a great deal of knowledge".

This ethos was the guiding-post for the crusader Y.P. Ranade under whose visionary leadership the inception of The Ranade Group happened. The main focus of all the group companies has been child education through quality books.

He envisaged the limitless possibilities that all the children have and believed that books are the carriers of civilization; "To plant a seed is to think a year ahead. To plant a tree is to think 10 years ahead. To educate a people is to think 100 years ahead". and thus undertook a broader mission to provide children with the knowledge, skills, dispositions and attitudes through books that enable them to make informed moral decisions and prepare them to become caring members of society.

True to the core, we are carrying forward the legacy with 'Scholar Books' those are created to capture the true essence from the above inspiration and to develop brilliance in children.

FATHER LEBLOND SCHOOL

The phrase 'art for art's sake', from the French l'art pour l'art, condenses the notion that art has its own value and should be judged apart from any themes which it might touch on, such as morality, religion, history, or politics. It teaches that judgments of aesthetic value should not be confused with those proper to other spheres of life. With this idea in mind, on 25th January 2019, over 35 artists from various parts of West Bengal and 200 pupils from around 20 schools attended the Festival de Arte, 2019, an art festival cum workshop organized by Father LeBlond School, situated at Bhimbhar, in the Darjeeling district of West Bengal.
